Inauguration of Woodrow Wilson

WOODROW WILSON.

THOMAS R. MARSHALL.

On Tuesday morning March 4, 1913 Chief Justice White of the Supreme Court of the United States administered to Woodrow Wilson the oath which makes him the 28th president of the United States, and to Thomas Marshall the Vice President's oath, was administered by Senator Gallinger, and forthwith the reins of government passed from the hands of President Taft to those of President Wilson. The inauguration ceremonies proper were simple and impressive, but the inaugural parade and accompanying ceremonies were the most impressive history, notwithstanding the efforts to strip them of much of their pomp and magnificence. The following impressive words formed a part of the newly inaugurated president's address:

"This is not day of triumph," Mr. Wilson declared, "it is a day of dedication. Here must not the forces of party, but the forces of humanity. Men's hearts wait upon us; men's lives hang in the balance; men's hopes call upon us to say what we will do. Shall we live up to the great trust? Who dares fail to try? I summon all honest men, all patriotic, all forward-looking men to my side. God helping me, I will not fail them, if they will but counsel and sustain me."

Leslie's is discussing the reason for the high price of meat, the poor editor only has time to cuss it.

Read the attractive advertisement of Haselden Brothers on our editorial page this week. It contains some interesting reading and is worthy of your notice.

The way of the country editor is hard. We have raked up enough cash to get to Paint Lick tomorrow and if we do not succeed in collecting some money we ask the Kentucky Press Association to organize a relief expedition and come to our rescue.

Miss Sue Ford, a Mexican missionary has returned to her home in Paris, Ky., she says the lives of Americans are held very cheaply in Mexico. We do not think nationality has anything to do with it, it seems no one is quite safe from the greaser to the President in Mexico.

To The Growers Of Garrard County.

We wish to thank you for your patronage, during the season now about to close, and wish to say that our house will close, on March, 20th, if you have any tobacco left please get it in by that time. Yours truly, Wortham.

Mr. Joseph B. Wortham died at the home of Mrs. Cal Maupin in Richmond Ky., on the 21st of February. Mr. Wortham has been a long sufferer and his health was due to a complication of diseases. Funeral services were conducted at the Maupin home on the following Sunday afternoon, by Dr. E. B. Barnes of the Christian church, after which the remains were interred in the Richmond cemetery.

Mr. Wortham was 55 years of age and is survived by one daughter, Miss Jessie Wortham, his wife having preceded him to the grave many years ago.

"Joe" Wortham spent most of his life in Lancaster, where he was a highly respected citizen. He was the last of a once extensive Lancaster family, consisting of Mrs. William Shugars, Mrs. Boston Dillon, and Mrs. George Wright, and Messrs. Sim, Smith and Joseph Wortham. Mr. Wortham was a carpenter by trade an industrious sober man and a good citizen. Since his marriage in Richmond several years ago, he has spent a great deal of his time in that city, and the news of his death will be to many the first news of his leaving Lancaster.

The many Lancaster friends of the family sympathize deeply with the young daughter in her bereavement.

Rev. M. A. Phillips, of Louisville will fill the pulpit at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

Circuit Court.

The March term of the Garrard Circuit Court convened on Monday morning with Judge Charles A. Hardin presiding. Commonwealth's Attorney Emmett Puryear, County Attorney J. E. Robinson, Sheriff Ballard and his efficient deputies, Clerk Mason and Miss Sue Shelby, and Jailor Jack Adams were at their posts promptly to assist in the turning of the wheels of justice.

Judge Hardin gave his usual splendor to the grand jury, pointing out and dwelling at length upon the matters which they should give their attention and urging them to be diligent in their efforts to ferret out crimes. He gave the instructions which he has been giving of late to the various grand juries of the district, including the instructions that they report their acts in writing to the court at the close of their deliberations.

The following gentlemen compose the jury:

GRAND JURY.
J. N. Ross, Cronley Broadus.
J. D. Rich, J. B. House,
David Dudderar, Ed. Clark,
B. F. Broadus, R. M. Poor,

The following offenders have thus far felt the strong arm of the law. Ed. Stephens, carrying concealed weapons, $25, fine and 15 days in jail; Taylor Shearer, same offense $25, and 10 days; Will Adams, disturbing religious worship, $20, fine; Vernon Hart, furnishing liquor to minor, $50, fine and William Henry Sowers breach of peace $20, fine.

The City Council of the City of Danville was fined the sum of $50, and costs for their failure to erect and maintain a fish ladder at the water works dam on Dix river.

Oethel East charged with barn burning was found guilty and given an indeterminate sentence of from one to six years in the penitentiary.

If you had Rockefeller's daily income, what would you do today?

The income tax law will be the sixteenth amendment to the constitution.

Some of our citizens say they want a light on the filter, not on the water tower.

Would you give your head to be President of Mexico? Seven have, up to date.

Taft has proven himself a poor Bull fighter with both the Mexicans and moozers.

Lancaster is going to have a Fair, so we have decided to take it in and leave off the inauguration and the Panama canal.

General Diaz says he does not want to be President of Mexico again. Is he speaking in a Rooseveltian or a Pie wickian sense?

The South is the stronghold of the nations agricultural strength and we hope the effort to get a southern man in the cabinet will meet with success.

The Danville Advocate is running a column headed "Items published 25 years ago, we have published some that happened 25 years ago and then some."

The Terrible Teddy has been quiet so long we fear it is a case of a "calm before a storm" and that when he does have something to say it will be of a very explosive nature.

The Circle Girls will have candy sales at Miss Rella Arnolds Millinery store each Saturday until Easter, March 8th, 15th and Saturday March 22nd, they will have a general exchange and candy sale. This is for a worthy cause, and your patronage will be appreciated by all the members of the circle.

For the first time in the history of the nation the Vice President had military escort during the usual ceremonies of March the fourth. He will be heard of no more unless he dies or the President dies.

President Wilson takes being President very seriously. He has declined to become honorary member of the golf club, saying he had not time for golf; now if he has not time to go fishing he will feel almost as sorry for him as we do for Huerta.

Now that Mr. Wilson has named his cabinet, we are sure there are some "cabinet makers" in this section who will have to be brought up before the mayor on the vagrant act, and here's hoping they will be sentenced to work the roads.

A magnificent set of pearl studs for Pres. Taft and a diamond necklace that cost $1500 for Mrs. Taft, a gold bag studded with amethysts for Miss Helen Taft, were presented to them as farewell gifts from a circle of close friends. Such gifts must have taken away some of the sting of parting.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth was voted one of the expert society milliners of Washington, when a small Alice-blue toque of velvet which she had trimmed was exhibited and sold for the benefit of the childrens home. Mrs. Longworth must have inherited her trimming qualifications from her father.

The Danville Advocate says: "working in the trenches a half generation on an empty stomach has served to whet the appetite of the pie hunters". The Advocate also says George Farris has been feeling the Garrard County pulse as he repeated the name of James B. McCreary. It will take a split-second stop watch, George, to get the correct pulse of old Garrard.

Waiting For Light.

Do the people of the State of Kentucky wish a change in their taxing laws? If so, in what respect? If it is to reduce the rate of taxation or the gross sum required of them for tax, we should answer the question without difficulty. Those who know how much tax fund is required to cover the public demands made no promise that the sum will be reduced in the near future. It may and will, likely, grow rather than decrease. However, tax reform has become a popular platform for aspiring law makers. We hear it from authority well worthy of our consideration that our present tax laws are antiquated and obsolete, and that same should be replaced at the earliest practical moment by such laws as cover present business and financial conditions and requirements.

Now, since it is conceded by all that we are to continue to need as much money for public purposes as formerly, and that any tax reform sought will not effect that phase of the case the question naturally suggested, is what are the changes wished, if any? The only possible result of any change, as appear to us, is who would get off with less tax and who would be the unlucky to have to contribute more freely to the public treasury. It is pretty safe to say that those who think that a change would lighten their burden of tax will be enthusiastic tax reformers, while those who, perchance, get a glimpse of a larger tax bill will be down on the new move. It may be possible that all will indulge the hope that fortune will place them in the lucky CLASS that will be reduced in rate, and that all will thereby be persuaded to help the tax reformer do his work, when the unfortunate may repent at leisure, while the State would follow in the path of progress, provided the promised remedy of the tax reformer works out all right.

Those who have been interested in what is termed the tax reform move have found that a change in our State Constitution is necessary in order to have the kind of laws they want, and in consequence of this agitation, our last legislature provided for a submission to vote of the people at the next regular November election whether the present constitution should be changed. The section of the constitution as it now exists is as follows:

"Taxes shall be levied and collected for public purposes only. They shall be uniform upon all property subject to taxation."

The proposed amendment reads thus: "Taxes shall be levied and collected for public purposes only and shall be uniform upon all property of the SAME CLASS subject to taxation. The General Assembly shall have power to divide property into CLASSES and determine what class or classes of property shall be subject to LOCAL TAXATION. Bonds of the State and Counties, municipalities, taxing and school districts shall not be subject to taxation."

The amendment also provides that all tax laws enacted under this section if adopted shall be subject to ratification of the people by referendum vote. Now, we are in favor of tax reform if we can see in the move a real benefit to the majority of the people. We do not wish at this time to be understood as either opposing or favoring the adoption of this proposed amendment. We are, however, shying a little at some things in the amendment as we read it. Under the present constitution all property be it real estate, including farm lands and city real estate, or personal property, including live stock, notes, bonds, securities of all kinds or money all bears the same rate of taxation. Under the proposed change the legislature would classify property. That is, they could put real estate in one class or money in a class, or live stock in a class, notes in another class and so on and fix a different rate of tax for each class. Then real estate could be taxed at fifty cents and money at 10 cents or money at 50 cents and real estate at 10 cents on each one hundred dollars of valuation. This section of the amendment:

"Determine what class or classes of property shall be subject to local taxation."

Is worthy of the consideration and analysis of the voters before they act upon this amendment. Under the provision it seems pretty clear that the Legislature would be authorized to relieve a certain class of property from local taxation altogether. We submit for the consideration of our readers, is it best for any class of property to be relieved altogether of taxation? We again submit, is it not best for all property of every kind and description to bear the same rate of taxation? Since this proposed amendment places so great authority in the General Assembly, we would be pleased to know the substance of a proposed law or see a draft of such, covering this tax question under the amendment if adopted, that some legislative candidate who favors tax reform, would introduce or support if sent to Frankfort as a law maker. Such a draft of a law that would be satisfactory to the people would we think make the proposed amendment more popular. We are waiting for more light.

In our daily walks and conversations we find many who stoutly protest against mention of graft. There is too much of this talk, they say, it destroys confidence in our institutions, faith in our commercial and political leaders and it shakes the very foundation of this old Republic.

Moreover, they say, there is not so much graft at large as the expositors allege. What there is, they say, will be cured by growth in individual morality, or perhaps by an awakened "social conscience". In other words they ask for the man with the muckrake to "go way back and sit down" and believe that all things will work together for good to those who love the Lord. This optimism, or rather the attempt to throw the public from the scent of evil, is but a reasoned form of the instinct of the ostrich.

By blinding our eyes to what is going on around us, we expect immunity from harm. Graft will not cease when such methods are employed, but exposure is sure death to it. Graft will continue and increase as long as we close our eyes to it or wink at it, ceasing to speak of it will but nourish it. By no appeals to the conscience of the individual can graft be eliminated, but it can be eliminated by talk and by exposure. The man with the muckrake is as much needed as the man with the hoe.

It is a comparatively easy matter for man to plant trees, but to have them grow and thrive illustrates the high water mark of the brains mastery. Spraying trees is one of the triumphs of genius. It is an easy matter for man to command the horse and the dog and the cow, nor is it a very serious matter to control those creatures that still are wild.

It is in the field of insect life man has met his serious defeats. Thousands of men have been whipped by insects, and many of our farms and orchards are but the battle field where man has been overcome by insects and perhaps knew it not. It is said insects destroy over two hundred million dollars for the United States in a single year. To meet these minute and uncountable hordes was the task of science, and it is not defeated. It compels, however, every farmer to have a scientific training. That is what is coming about. It will not be many years before every farmer will be a chemist and an entomologist at least, if he be not also a good botanist and ornithologist. No other branch of industry so comes into an alliance with knowledge and with such extensive knowledge as does farming.

The knowing ones in Washington are wagging their heads ominously over a conference held there between Gov. James B. McCreary and State Chairman Van Sant, and J. N. Camden is said also to have participated in the confab, and it is freely predicted in some quarters that some definite conclusion will be reached while these gentlemen are there attending the inaugural festivities as to the Kentucky senatorial race.

Gov. McCreary also was observed for a few minutes in quiet conversation with Congressman Owens Stanley, but each of these gentlemen strenuously deny that politics was mentioned during the talk.

Ice Plant Under Construction.

Mr. Henley V. Bastin is pushing the construction of the new ice plant as rapidly as the weather will permit. The machinery is about all on the ground, and every day that can possibly be utilized, a force of workmen are busy trying to get the plant completed before the coming of warm weather.

Bright, Successful Young Man.

Mr. Clay Pumphyre, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pumphyre of this city, who has been the expert in charge of machinery at the Colonial theater in Danville for a number of years, has resigned his position to accept the position of a new theater recently established in Danville by the Loyal Order of Moose. Mr. Pumphyre accompanied a committee from the lodge to Cincinnati, where he superintended the buying of the most modern and complete machinery obtainable, and all the accessories for an up-to-date theatre.

Clay Pumphyre has been wonderfully successful along this line not to have had a technical training. His experience and superior knowledge of electrical machinery and especially that pertaining to the moving picture show business has brought him to the head of the line in that profession, and his services are in demand almost anywhere he chooses to offer them.

Mule Merchants Return.

Messrs W. R. Cook and George D. Robinson have returned from Georgia where they spent the winter engaged in the mule business. Both gentlemen report a profitable season in their respective sections of the state, and express their intention of returning to the "Goober state" next winter.

Farmers Institute.

The Farmers Institute held under the auspices of the Kentucky Agricultural Department at the Court House last Friday and Saturday was a success, not so much from the point of attendance, for while there was a good crowd in attendance, it was not what it should have been, but from a point of good derived by those who did attend. The speakers were men of much intelligence, well versed upon the topics which they discussed and capable of imparting much valuable information to their hearers, and we are sorry that every farmer in the county did not come out and profit by hearing them. A permanent county organization was effected with Mr. W. E. Moss as President and R. E. Henry as Secretary, while Mr. W. S. Embury was chosen as a delegate to the State Institute at Frankfort.

Burdett.

Mr. Daniel P. Burdett died at his home near Marksbury on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He had been in failing health for the last year and the illness which resulted in his death was of two weeks duration. He was a sufferer from a complication of diseases. Had he lived until the 23 day of this month he would have been 68 years of age. A peculiar coincidence connected with the death of Mr. Burdett is that his brother Mr. Fred Burdett died on the 4th day of March 1912, only two days lacking to make their deaths occur exactly a year apart. The two lived together and were almost inseparable.

Mr. Burdett is survived by one brother, L. W. Burdett who resides in California. He was an uncle of Mrs. L. G. Davidson, of this city. After funeral services by Eld. F. M. Tindler, his remains were placed at rest in the Lancaster cemetery on Monday afternoon.

Dan Burdett was born and reared in Garrard county, and was one of her most highly respected citizens, he was a faithful member of the Christian church, holding membership at Pleasant Grove. He was a genial kindly man, thoroughly conscientious, he never intentionally wronged his fellow man. He spent his entire life in the community where he was born and held the unstinted esteem of his entire neighborhood.

Senator Bradley Telegraphs "Lancaster O. K.", Which Means We Will Undoubtedly Get Federal Building.

On last Saturday afternoon Mr. R. H. Batson telegraphed to Senator Bradley and also Congressman Helm that the site for the Federal Building in Lancaster had been paid for and accepted by the government and to urge the Lancaster appropriation. On Tuesday morning Mr. Batson received the following message from Sen. Bradley:

"Washington D. C. March 3, 1913.
R. H. Batson, Lancaster Ky.
Lancaster all right
W. O. Bradley U. S. Senator"

This means beyond any peradventure of a doubt that the Public Buildings bill has passed, carrying with it an appropriation of $55,000, for the erection of a building on the site already purchased.

This measure has had a stormy career because of the enormous size of the appropriations contained therein, and then Sen. Kerns of Indiana inserted a clause providing that no building should be built in a town whose stamp receipts fell short of $10,000, per annum, and as Lancaster's receipts do not reach half that amount, we despaired of ever getting the appropriation. However, "his home town" seems never to escape the mind of Sen. Bradley and he has labored indefatigably in our behalf, and it seems that his labors have been rewarded.

Mr. Mount Attends Inauguration.

Mr. Joseph R. Mount is attending the inaugural ceremonies at Washington this week. Mr. Mount was an "original Wilson man" and has been an ardent supporter of the President even since his name was first mentioned in connection with the presidency.

Big Insurance Case Moved To This County For Hearing.

On Tuesday March 17th Judge Hardin will hear arguments on the plaintiffs petition in the Insurance suit of the late James Robinson heirs against the Equitable Life Assurance Society, in the court house in Lancaster. A number of well known attorneys will be on hand to represent the Insurance Company; among this number will be Judge Humphreys of Louisville, Hon. Wm. Marshall Bullitt Solicitor General of the U. S. and several attorneys from N. Y.

Judge L. L. Walker being the local attorney for the defendant. The Robinson heirs will be represented by Judge E. C. O'Rear of Frankfort and Mr. J. E. Robinson of this city. The fact that the case involves the right of distribution of the surplus of the large insurance companies, as well as the right of policy holders with participating policies to an accounting from the companies, is of more interest to the country at large, than the sum of $220,000.00 which is sought by the plaintiffs. All preliminary motions thus far have been decided in favor of the plaintiffs and as the Insurance Company was not ready to present their side of the case during the Lincoln term of court, Judge Hardin transferred the case to this court and set the time of hearing for March 17th.

The Insurance Company will in a few weeks pay the heirs $10,000 the face of the policy and contest the remainder of the claim.

Don't forget the Circle Girls candy sale at Miss Rella Arnold's Saturday.

A Good Auctioneer.

Mr. J. P. Prather of Lancaster cried the sale of the late John Prather on Long Branch on Monday, and he tells us that the sale which consisted of household goods and farming implements, brought just twice the amount for which they were appraised. This is a record as an auctioneer of which Mr. Prather may well be proud.

Garrard County Land Sales.

Mr. J. W. Hamilton, the best County Court clerk south of the Mason and Dixon line, informs us that he recorded during the last twelve months in his office 658 deeds. This indicates that it is no trouble to sell Garrard County land. We hope those who sold did not leave the county, for if they did make such an unfortunate and unwise move they might go farther and do worse.

Sanatorium Sold.

The Spitzer Sanatorium has been sold and possession given on Feb. 15th, to Mr. Wm. E. Laur, of Saganaw, Mich. We have information that this property was sold at a handsome figure and that about $5,000 in improvements will be spent on it this spring. We are sorry to note that Mr. J. L. Spitzer the former owner and manager will leave this state and probably locate in Chicago. It is a pleasure however to state that Dr. H. R. Spitzer has been retained as physician in charge.

Dr. Friedman Now In This Country With Tuberculosis Cure Making Tests Under The Supervision Of The United States Government.

Dr. Frederick Franz Friedman, the German physician and scientist who claims to have found a cure derived from the inoculation of a turtle that is a specific for tuberculosis, is now in New York, and as soon as proper quarters can be secured, he will conduct tests of his alleged cure under the supervision of representatives of the Surgeon General, and if these tests prove successful his treatment will be placed in the hands of physicians in this country for the treatment of persons afflicted with this dread disease.

Much has been written about Dr. Friedman, good and bad, but from statements made by him, it would seem that his chief aim in life is to relieve suffering humanity. He says that it is not mercenary, that he only desires enough money from his great discovery to enable him to give the proper instructions for the use of the culture, and for its perpetuation. He further says that after the reputation of his remedy is fully established, that no person shall be a sufferer from the White Plague and desire to use the specific and be buried therefrom because of the lack of funds, that it is for the rich and poor alike, and that from those who are able to pay, he will exact a fee in accordance with their means, but from the poor he will exact nothing, will treat them without money and without price.

We have received our line of Ladies shoes and exfoliors for spring. Let us supply your wants for Easter, we handle the famous Drew Selby line.

Buy it, My Boy, Because it's a Studebaker

That's reason enough son—because it's a Studebaker. I learned that lesson before you were born. And my father learned it before me. There isn't any "better" than Studebaker. There can't be. I read something in a newspaper the other day about Studebaker wagons and I cut it out; I like to hear good things about old friends. Listen to it: "Wherever wheels turn—wherever roads are built—wherever cleaves its way into the wilderness—anywhere in the world—the traveler from America meets with a thrill of patriotic pride that is synonymous with vehicle service and vehicle value." Fine, isn't it? And gospel true, too. I remember your Uncle William time he went to Europe, back in 1891, telling me how good it felt to find Studebaker wagons in the little out-of-the-way and to find, too, that the name Studebaker stood just as high there as it did here. But that isn't what I'm getting at. What I mean is, that you'd be safe today if you bought a Studebaker wagon with your eyes shut—you could be sure you were getting the best money's worth your dollars could buy. What I mean is, that the Studebaker notion of building the good old-fashioned golden rule into their wagons hasn't let down the thousands part of an inch in fifty years. Don't you see that nothing anyone else may offer you can take the place of that downright positive Studebaker certainty? Suppose if all the wagons the Studebakers have built were strung out in a line they'd go around the globe half a dozen times. And I've never heard of one that didn't make good. Don't let anyone get your mind off that idea—buy it, my boy, because it's a Studebaker.

The Womans Club

(Edited By The Womans Club)

The Worth Of A Library.

For centuries the cathedrals with their towering spires were not able to dispel the gloom of ignorance and to harmonize the discordant masses into one independent thinking, charitable and democratic whole, and yet their good works bore fruit in their time and they served to keep alive the glowing spark of knowledge as a heritage for future generations.

The schools came and on the firm foundation of the intellect built by the church, humanity climbed a few more steps toward right-living, but the children were taught to read without anything being put into their hands to read. This may be likened to putting tools into the hands of an unskilled workman without any work to do, or to a loaded shotgun in the hands of a boy untought in its uses. This child now knowing how to read is not taught what to read and as is the way of all flesh it seeks the smoothest paths of reading free from mental obstructions but abounding in lurid pictures of folly, rapine, avarice and unbridled love. By so doing the points of least resistance are met and overcome and all the previous efforts of preacher and teacher come to naught. For all the paths downward to spiritual, physical and mental degradation are easy, smooth and non-resisting.

Ninety percent of the children never get to go even to the high schools. This is a very large percentage that must obtain an education by their own home efforts, to fit their peculiar needs, or else they must be "hewers of wood and drawers of water" unto the end of their days, or be content to sit down in a knowledgeless Eden clothed in garments of rapid conceit, unable to meet the tests imposed by men and conditions. Only six percent of the children, in school, ever reach college and about four percent of these, sooner or later, reach a professional or vocational school. But schools only fit a man to take on the true education to be acquired by years of thoughtful reading, experience and close observation. Going through school does not imply an education. Some very woeful cases of ignorance are to be found in the senior classes of our high schools, colleges and universities. This deficiency must be made up in some way and the only ways now that lie open are the public library and the concentrated efforts of the individual.

Some deem the booklover, and bibliomania is an affliction much to be feared, but the right use of books can never be decried. The young lawyer leaves the law school about ready to begin the serious practice and study of the law, and especially the study, for the complexities of our American life, the multiplicity of precedents and laws, both vague and pointed, demand study through a well selected library. The young doctor does not close his textbooks on leaving school unless he wants to forsake the principles enunciated by Esculapius and to embark on the perilous sea of quackery. The one-book lawyer, doctor, preacher or teacher would be as narrow in tuition as a one-stringed harp would be monotonous in tune. The farmer is, also, helped by the many well written articles of his agricultural papers. The daily newspapers are the greatest educators of the day.

The crystallized thoughts of great writers have caused revolutions in thoughts, politics, education and religion: Dickens' Nicholas Nickleby caused school reforms in England and America; Luther's writings brought religious reform in continental Europe as did Bunyan's Pilgrim Progress in England; Sinclair's Jungle, though dead now, drove meat packers distracted and caused the enactment of the present Pure Food laws; Uncle Tom's Cabin played a part in bringing on the titanic struggle between the North and the South; the vigorous magazine articles of 1909 caused a mighty upheaval in American politics and so on without limit may be enumerated those writings that have wrought those noted moves on the chess-board of human affairs.

In the majority of homes the only book is the Bible that is good, but God speaks through many writers. The sentiments expressed by Tennyson in "Crossing the Bar", Lanier in "Into the woods my Master went" and Browning in "Pippa Passes" and "Prospect" are truly inspired. In other homes there is a great number of books of every choice binding chosen without regard to the message sought or the use of them. They may be well bound "Diamond Dicks" for all the owner may care.

A free library has never yet been known to pauperize or degrade a community. Some other municipally favored objects have done so. The good influence of a free library rightly conducted is almost instantaneous. The varied interests of restless children are soon satisfied by the stories, biographies and the week's story-hour. The boys interests are now centered and low company no longer satisfies him. Good books are undoubtedly better companions for boys and girls than the average street idler. Many young men have built their futures substantially by stamina and a reading course suggested by a wise librarian, thereby eschewing vicious companions. If that young man should aspire to an engineer's course he may be able to obtain the practical in the day-time and the theoretical by burning midnight oil. Thus many people forced to leave school because of poor health, lack of means or a early lack of ambition have made up these deficiencies through the public library.

One little head can not carry all the world's knowledge, for that reason reference books are indispensable. These are to be found in a well-appointed public library. The lack of the knowledge of facts is not to be laughed at, but the inability to find them at the right time is deplorable. Above all a public library will help the schools and churches counteract the evil influences of moral depravity better than any other known public benefit.

"O books, ye monuments of mind, concrete wisdom of the wisest; Sweet solaces of daily life, proof and results of immortality; Trees yielding all fruits, whose leaves are for the healing of nations; Groves of knowledge, where all may eat, nor fear a flaming sword; Gentle comrades, kind advisers, friends comforts, treasures, Helps, governments, diversities of tongues; who can weigh your worth?"

Miss Simms of Paris has asked the Womans Club for books to go to the School of Reform where boys and girls from seven to twenty-one will read them with pleasure and profit. We ask all who will contribute books to this worthy cause to take them to Miss Olive Dean. We ask parents to look up books children have discarded or out grown and place them where they are needed and wanted.

Here And There In Clubland.

Mrs. J. J. Dickey, chairman of the Committee on Reform School, has recently visited the institution near Lexington, carefully studying conditions there. The result of this visit will be given later to the clubs.

School yards and home gardens, spring planting and clean-up days are to be considered by the Outdoor Art League when it meets Friday at 3 p. m. at the Public Library in Louisville.

The club women of Lexington are fighting oppressive light bill. They realize that light is good, but must not be allowed to monopolize all the resources of their purses.

The art department of the Paducah Womans Club has been studying Michael Angelo's life, his paintings and writings, and a delightful programme bearing on this, the greatest of artists, was given recently.

Unightly billboard advertising is being wared against by the Harrodsburg Womans Club, and well might many other clubs elsewhere wage such a campaign.

That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.
Lancaster testimony proves it reliable.
Mrs. J. W. Humphrey, Danville St., Lancaster, Ky., says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills leads me to backache and could not sleep well. On several occasions my back became so painful and weak that I was unable to attend to my household. Being advised to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial, I did so, procuring a supply at Frisbie's Drug Store, (now R. E. McRoberts & the first and I was soon relieved."

Annual Meeting Kentucky Educational

Association To Be Held In Louisville

April 30 to May 3d Inclusive.

Preparations are well under way for the forty-second annual session of the Kentucky Educational Association, to be held in Louisville April 30, May 1, 2, and 3. The officers of the Association are: Supt. R. L. McFarland, Owensboro; President, T. W. Vinson, Frankfort; Secretary, and G. M. Money, Shelby-ville, Treasurer. It is planned to make it the most important educational meeting ever held in the South. The program is filled with speakers outside the state, of national reputation.

More than a score of the foremost educators of Kentucky are also on the program and it will require three sessions each day to carry through the important work before the convention.
Louisville is making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the visitors and the officers of the Association hope that every teacher in the state will attend, as the approaching convention is regarded as an important step for the educational uplift of Kentucky. An exceptionally low railroad rate from every point has been made on account of the convention.

Every teacher who can do so should attend. They should go to think and to work. They should go with the idea of getting something for the boys and girls of their county. They should bring back home many a thought, and many a new idea and greater inspiration. In order to encourage the attendance of trustees, Mr. John B. McFarren of Louisville has offered a prize of $50.00 in gold to the county having the largest attendance of trustees. He has also offered a prize of $25.00 in gold for the best essay written by a trustee on "The Duties of a Trustee" and a similar prize on the same subject by a county superintendent or teacher. Also a similar prize for the best essay by anyone on the subject "The Qualifications of a Subdistrict Trustee and How to Get Him".

Time will be given for a round table discussion of his problems and every trustee in Kentucky will be invited to come and participate in these discussions.

PRIZES OF $1,000 IN GOLD.

Intellectual Clerk.

Visitors seeing the sights in Pittsburg entered the conservatory presented to the city by Mr. Phillips. They came to a beautiful statue which was admired immensely. It was of translucent marble. The clerk who was showing them around, pointed out the excellences of the statue, told the name of the sculptor and showed it from every point of view. One asked:
"Alabaster, isn't it?" "No," he said,
"Venus."

When Baby Learns to Talk.

Some children are very late in talking, particularly if they are not encouraged. They make signs or point to the object of their desires, and find it easier than learning to talk. This is pure indolence on their part and incidentally on the part of the mother. Adenoids are a frequent cause of delayed talking. If a child does not talk at two or two and a half years of age, deafness or mental deficiency should at least be considered as a possible cause of his backwardness.

Microbes in Your Scalp

Authorities say that a microbe causes baldness. If you are losing hair try our remedy at our risk.

Professor Unna, of Germany, and
Dr. Sabouraud, the great French Dermatologist, claim that a microbe causes baldness, and their theory has been verified by eminent scientists. This microbe destroys the hair follicles, in time causing the scalp pores to close and the scalp to become shiny. Then, it is believed nothing will revive the growth. If treated before this occurs, baldness may be overcome.

We know of nothing that has given such universal satisfaction in treating the scalp and hair as Retall
"93" Hair Tonic. It has been designed after long study to overcome the cause of falling hair as discovered by Prof. Unna, Dr. Sabouraud and other scalp and hair specialists, and we believe it will do more than anything else can to remove dandruff and stop falling hair; and if any human agency can promote a new growth of hair it will do that, too.

We want you to make us prove it.
We will pay for a month's treatment of Retall "93" Hair Tonic used during a trial, if you will use it according to directions, and are not thoroughly satisfied. When we will do this, you surely should not hesitate to at least try it.

Start the treatment today. Your mere request will get your money back if you want it. Two sizes: 50c

The boarding house of the headless horse will be inspected, as some fear he is drinking water that is not filtered. Mr. Alex Walker will be allowed 25 cents for cinders without taking it to the Supreme court as was first thought of, they will try and run in a telephone franchise by way of satisfying the ladies about the Park. After such weighty problems as these, have been given thoughtful, careful and prayerful consideration, it may dawn upon them that the health of the community is entitled to some thought and this may remind them of the filter that doesn't filter.

For lack of space we can only write up one Councilman at a time, so bring in your picture and the history of your life from the cradle to the filter that doesn't filter, and let us print it.

Our councilmen! Our gallant heroes! Our wonders of the world! Men made of stuff Americans are made of: Thermopylae, Horatius at the bridge! "The Charge of the Light Brigade", were child's play compared with their acts of self sacrifice, bravery and noble deeds. May they live long, long as the filter that won't filter, may they grow tall, tall as the water tower that they erected to their memory on the public square and when their work is done may they draw the drapery of their couches about them and lie down to oblivion. After this fitful fever, may they sleep well. They deserve it. Pull down the blind, turn out the light, step softly, who would wake them!

Life is real. Life is earnest. And the grave is not its goal. Rather 'tis to see which councilman. Can the Bastin' phone control.

Wanted: A councilman to work in the interest of a corporation, the public be damned.

Wanted: The platform I ran on.

Lost: Sometime between the day I announced and the day I was elected, My platform.

Reward: A liberal reward will be given to the Central Record to hunt up my platform and print it.

Wanted: A councilman to take Wes Zanone's place and work cheek and jaw with the Bastin Telephone Co.

Wanted: Higher telephone rates to please the Bastin Telephone Co.

Wes Zanone says he was elected by the people, for the people and that he is for a square deal. No one will ever be able to fool him into granting rectangular or parallelograms on deals. He is willing to look at the wires overhead until he understands all about the "under hand" wires.

That we may do no one an injustice, it is proper to state here that Mr. C. Hamilton, Parker Gregory and Wes Zanone have always voted together on all question and issues brought up in the council of interest to the people and have stood solidly upon the platform on which they were elected.

This paper is not run in the interest of any boss or ring of bosses.

We are not dominated by any ill. We wear no man's collar. We are running this paper in the interest of our town and county and will ever try to serve the people in looking after their interests. When occasion arises for us to name the lowly instrument of the grave digger, we shall call it a spade and if the spade digs up or unearths anything that is of interest to the people, we will print it. We intend to be kind to the rich as well as the poor. The rich and prominent will receive as much consideration from our hands as the poor. When anything deserves mention, we will mention it.

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE

dollars, and the hot polloi who catch colds.

Nevertheless it is a great day. The bands play "Hail to the Chief," the militia of the various states proudly pound the pavement; the governors and their staffs come forth to dazzle the eye; the political clubs keep time to a secret refrain in the heart of each member that sounds suspiciously like "want a job, want a job"; the city is brave with flags and bunting; the president elect struggles to his feet and struggles to keep his feet as he bows to the plaudits of the multitude while his carriage passes by. He delivers an inaugural address that is already in type in nearly all the newspaper offices in the country, he reviews miles of parade and shakes thousands of hands, the cannons boom the salute, and all goes merry as a marriage bell. This is especially true of the coin that tinkles into the tills of the various hotels, stores, thrift parlors and the like. For real merriment that sound has the average marriage bell sounding like a dirge.

Speaking of the Weather.

Our inaugural ceremonies must be likened to the tree of liberty bursting into flower. Some say that the tree is only trouble in the blossom which our optimistic and promising weather department hands out each inauguration day. Professor Willis L. Moore promises assorted sunshine and balmy skies and calls on all the universe and the signal service to witness his good intentions. "This prophecy having been duly made, telegraphed to the ends of the land and published in the papers, the weather proceeds to perform, incidentally making an assorted variety of monkeys out of the said Willis L. Moore. On the morning of inauguration day it snows. This is followed by hail, sleet, rain, wind, slush, microbes, influenza, grip, coryza, cold feet, blue lips, red noses, profanity, ineffectual doctors' bills, crape, undertakers and a frenzied agitation to change the inauguration date which comes to nothing.

It is said by some of Washington's oldest inhabitants that there have been no inauguration days. There is even one myth to the effect that there was a mild and sunny day 4th of March. Possibly that was at one of the inaugurations of Grover Cleveland. You can't prove it by me. So far as my knowledge and belief go, inauguration day weather in Washington usually is bad.

There have been various measures introduced in congress to change inauguration day to the end of April. They have ranged all the way from simple bills and resolutions to constitutional amendments. Whatever their form, they have all traveled through the valley of the shadow of the pigeonhole. Every day that passes the change should be made, but that does not help the efforts to change it. People who participate in inaugural parades or look on die and are buried in consequence, but the deadly date goes on. President Elect Wilson proposed that he be sworn in on March 4, but that the public celebration be left till later. Everybody said it was a fine proposal and then proceeded deliberately to prepare for the public ceremony on March 4. Can you beat it?

Custom is mighty and shall prevail. President Elect Wilson also suggested that he wanted a simple inaugural, without so much fuss and feathers and so many troops. Thereupon the committees in Washington got together the idea of a simple inaugural, made various speeches telling why simplicity should prevail and then proceeded to follow precedent and to arrange the same kind of inaugural that had been held from time immemorial.

The head of the committee in charge of the inauguration is William Gorham East of the District of Columbia and state of Virginia. Eldridge E. Jordau, a Washington bank president, is vice chairman, and Major General Leonard Wood, now the head of the army, is grand marshal. There are various subcommittees containing the names of nearly every man socially prominent in Washington. If these committees alone were to parade they would require quite some time to pass a given point. There would be the honorable committee on the comfort of visitors, the honorable committee on legislation, the honorable committee on decorations, the honorable committee on this and the honorable committee on that. All of which teaches us that the inauguration of a president of the United States is a sizable function. A quarter of a million visitors are expected in the capital city that week. Nor will they all be looking for office. It is expected that at least the bands and the militia will have no hankering to enter the public service.

The Faithful Will Be There.

It will be a day of glory for the have had an opportunity to participate in a like festival of joy. During four successive campaigns they have fought, bled and died for their country, only to have the victorious Republicans play the star parts in the inauguration parades. Will our Democratic friends permit this proud opportunity to slip now that it has come their way? Not a slip. As the Kentucky colored man to the Georgia judges: "It is a long time between Democratic inaugurations. Let us don our glad habiliments and go thereto."

All the faithful will be there, either in body or spirit. Not only so, but the good will of the whole people, regardless of party, will attend the event. No matter who elected him, the chief figure in the affair is to be president of all of us. He is our foremost representative and mouthpiece during four years. We may not agree with all his views, but we are for him nevertheless. He may want the tariff scrambled, while we like it hard boiled, but these things shall not mar our good feeling. If we do not approve his brand of government we will have a chance to whack it in four years. In the meantime let us inaugurate him in the good old way--with blare of bands and much shouting.

There will be no inaugural ball, much to the disgust of various people who wanted to dance the turkey trot, the bunny hug and other ragtime glides and wiggles; also to the dealers in white dress gloves and those who expected to sell tickets, but much to the satisfaction of the pension office, Uncle Sam and the people generally. The proposed reception at the capitol building was also called off, since it would have entailed expense and would have kept the new president shaking hands most of the night. In place of these affairs there will be various private functions, one at the New Willard promising to be the most elaborate. If people want to dance they will have the opportunity, provided they can get an invitation.

Plenty of Red Fire.

If they do not desire to dance they can repair to the ellipse south of the White House and watch the fireworks. These will break all records. They will open by firing the national salute of 101 guns. Pictures of Wilson and Marshall will be wrought in fire. There will be thousands of colored lights, batteries, candles and bombs, 100 aeroplanes and balloons and hundreds of geysers, mines, flashes, turbidulous and aerolites. Red fire will be burned all along Pennsylvania avenue.

The inauguration itself will follow the due and ancient form. At about 10 o'clock the president elect will visit the White House, where he will be introduced to the committee of senators by the president. In another half hour the party will enter carriages and be driven to the capitol. Mr. Taft occupying the right hand seat in the front vehicle and Mr. Wilson sitting at his left. The president will repair to the room reserved for him in the capitol to sign bills, while the president elect goes to the vice president's room. In the senate chamber the sergeant-at-arms will push back the hands of the clock once or twice. Then the presidential party will enter; also the supreme court, diplomatic corps and other high dignitaries. The vice president will be sworn in, deliver a brief address and give the oath to the new senators. The procession will move to the temporary stand on the east portico, Chief Justice White will swear in the new president, the guns will boom the presidential salute, and the inaugural address will be delivered to as many of the throng as can hear. Then the procession will return to the White House, President Wilson now upon the right hand and ex-President Taft on the left. The long parade will be reviewed from the White House stand, the multitudes will be received, and a new administration will have begun. All this being attended to in due and ancient form, there is but one question remaining: How would you like to be Woodrow Wilson?

Moderate Self-Confidence.
"The audiences were very orderly in Shakespeare's day," said the student.

"Well," replied Mr. Stormington Barnes, "you can't blame them. The authors of that day may have been able to write Shakespeare, but between you and me, I don't believe they knew how to play it."

CAUGHT.

"Johnny, won't you help me get out?"
"Ah! youse de cheap skate wot calls on sile? Well, congh up a quarter if you want yer life saved."

A Happy Girl.
The winter girl is happy now. The winter winds have bruised the small of camphor from her furs.

Carol Prewitz for $165.

W. T. King bought 60 sheep of J. M.
Wheeler of Nina, for $6.00 a head, and an assortment of hogs, pigs, sows and sheets of J. E. Hammonds at 8 cents a pound.

Mr. Jas. B. Leavell of Bryantsville has some good Northern White seed corn for sale at 50c. a bushels, 500 shocks of fodder with a good straw rick to run to and a pair of family horses, suitable for hearse.

T. C. and David Rankin of this county got a judgment in the courts at Chattanooga, Tenn. against the Queen and Crescent Railway for 27 head of mules killed on that road in November 1912. The judgment was for $6075 or an average of $225 each.

Garrard is noted as a hemp producing territory and we hope the acreage will not fall short this year, as the prices paid for hemp this year are higher than in forty years. A Paris hemp buyer has contracted for a number of crops grown in Garrard county at 6 to 7 cents a pound.

Plows were started to turning the sod and stubble fields during the spring like weather of last week, and will be resumed this week with greater vigor if we have suitable weather. The sowing of tobacco beds and much early work has been accomplished. Quality, not quantity, will be the slogan of the tobacco grower next year.

Quite a number of losses are being reported by the death of western mules shipped to the South. Mr. L. W. Hudson of Atlanta, having lost about 26 head that cost him on an average of from $200 to $225. It is gratifying to note none of the Kentucky mules have ever died from this peculiar disease and it goes to prove that all dealers will have to eventually come to Kentucky for them until this dreaded disease is eradicated from the west.

Eld. F. M. Tindler and B. F. Robinson attended the Duroc hog sale at Lebanon and Springfield last week and each added quite a nucleus to their already large herd by buying some choice stock bred in the purple. They bought a young Defender boar which will head their herd at a fancy price. Not only the breeding of this hog is very much sought after just now, but his individuality is said to be as near the perfect type as can be found.

Mr. Tindler also bought a very choice gilt bred on different lines that will cross well on his Defender boar. Mr.
Robinson bought a very handsome gilt at the Mays sale at Springfield which will be quite an addition to his herd of choice stock he already possesses.

Mr. T. L. Yantis, who might be termed the original Duroc man of this county is the proud possessor of a Defender boar and gilt which he purchased at the Lebanon sale.

These gentlemen who attended these sales report that buyers were represented there from nine states and the bidding was brisk. At the sale of J. O.
Duncan 49 head sold at an average of $70. At the sale of McKee and Mays at Springfield 56 head sold, twenty of which were sows bred to Defender that brought an average of $153 a head.

"That's arrant nonsense," said Mr.
Henpeck, "about there always being room at the top."
"Oh," said his wife sarcastically,
"when were you up there to see?"

Additional Stanford Letter.
Hon. Harvey Helm and sister Miss Lettie will return this week from Washington.

Miss Alice Beazley continues very ill at her home on East Main street. No hope is entertained for her recovery.

Mr. Dan Hester, of Kings Mountain, is not expected to live through the day.
He has been in a very serious condition for many weeks with what is supposed to be blood poison in the foot. Within the last few days the flesh has almost entirely left the diseased member and Mr. Hester's suffering is almost past endurance.

Mr. C. E. Tate of this place attended the sale of J. O. Duncan at Lebanon last week and bought eight of the fine Duroc hogs sold on that day. He paid an average of nearly $70 a head. He buys only the best of a kind and as a consequence his farm on the Hustonville pike is becoming celebrated as a stock farm.

We thank our subscribers and broth-peculiar satisfaction.

Testing Parcel Post.

A novel idea originated to test the Parcel Post system. Every brick plant in the United States was asked to contribute one brick to be used in the construction of a house during the Clay Products Exposition held in Chicago.
25,000 bricks have been asked for, and a record will be kept of each brick from the time the brick is mailed until it is delivered in Chicago in order to see how speedily Uncle Sam can deliver a brick house by mail.

Using Unfiltered Water.

The people of Lancaster are using unfiltered water for the present.
Lucky our lake water shows a good analysis. Our $1040. filter that will not filter is not being used and the old one was torn out to make room for the new modern (?) one thus leaving, after the latter proved a failure, the city filter-less. This state of affairs is bad enough now while the water is cold and comparatively pure, but what will it be when the heated season comes? Better get busy and construct some kind of a filter, the people did not vote $12,000 in bonds to drink unfiltered water.

About To Become A Rival Of J. B. Haggin.

If James I. Hamilton continues to add to his present real estate holdings, he bids fair to become a formidable rival of J. B. Haggin, the Fayette county land king, in the number of acres he possesses. Mr. Hamilton on last Monday purchased of Brown & Williams of Mt Vernon 1417 acres of land in the southeastern part of this county, which added to what he already owns there will make him the possessor of over 5000 acres in one boundary, and it is not all of it a goat farm either.

Women Always Succeed.

The good ladies of Lancaster have taken up the proposition of beautifying the Park, in center of the public square.
This means it will be done, and done right. Here in Danville, the Civic League, composed of ladies, is responsible for what measure of cleanliness the town can boast. To be frank, if it were not for the efforts of these good women, Danville's streets, the court house yard, and McDowell Park, would be far from inviting in appearance.
The Record might have added to its story that Lancaster's park WILL be beautiful. — Danville Messenger.

That Jug Of Whiskey.

Seventy years ago, the corner stone of the old courthouse at Shelbyville was laid. Major J. H. Smith, president of the Peoples Saving Bank of Memphis, Tenn., was reared in Shelby-ville and although a very small boy at that time he remembers that one of the builders of the temple of justice told him, there had been placed a gallon jug of Kentucky sunshine in the hollow of one of the columns. Major Smith has never forgotten it, he may have forgotten to say his prayers, and many other things that were of more importance but when the news reached him that they were tearing down the old building, he at once vested the editor of the Sentinel with power of attorney, who will claim the jug when the weight of brick and mortar have been removed from it. Our advice to Major Smith would be, to be "Johnny on the spot" when that jug is unearthed.

SMILED TOO SOON.

The missionary smiled benevolently on the native tribes around him. "I will cure them all of cannibalism," he said, hopefully. "They have treated me kindly so far, and I am sure I shall convert them all."

After being introduced to their chief he retired to the special hut the tribe had prepared for him, where he was shortly afterward joined by a native.
"The king has sent me to dress you for dinner," said the man.

"Ah!" smiled the missionary. "How thoughtful of him. You are the royal valet, I suppose?"
"Nope," replied the native, "I'm the royal cook."

A Bas Capital.
While the constitutional convention was in progress a south side branch of the Curstone Club took much interest in the proceedings.

"I see by the papers," said the Man-About-Town, "that they are trying to incorporate a law to prohibit capital punishment."
There was a moment's silence, then the Corner Groceryman, who had been dozing up to this point, aroused himself and exclaimed:
"That's right; punish the capital ists."

WITH THE BOYS.

"When we are married, we will often go out for a little skate."
"If you are like most married men, you will often go out for one."

But do not think him dumb.
Just ask him some plain question—
You'll see him side-step some.

Optimistic.
"Dadbs never tires of telling what the world has done for him."
"Wealthy, I presume, and has everything money can buy?"
"No. About all he has in the world is a wife and three children, a small house and a cow."

"Oh, well, some men are just that way."

How He Got Out Of It.

The city editor glanced over the new reporter's manuscript.
"Don't you know, young fellow," he said, "that not even a defeated puglist can lie 'prone on his back'?"
"This one could," said the new reporter. "His head had been—turned by injudicious praise."

Sergeant Didn't "Sabby."

Sergt. Mike Drew was at one time a quartermaster sergeant in the Philippines. He believed he had a working knowledge of the language of the islands, which the soldiers call "Bamboo Spanish."

One day a party of tourists were trying to get two hippos to understand that they wanted some trunks taken down to the station. The tourists did everything they knew to get this instruction into the heads of the brown brothers, but it was useless.

Sergeant Drew then offered his services.

"Say, you," he said, turning to the natives, "when the whistle blows on the railroad train, too hoo, you get your bull cart, moo moo, and take these trunks down to the station before the engine starts, ding ding. Sab-by?"

"No no sabbay," the natives replied.
"What!" roared Sergeant Drew.
"Don't you understand your own language?"

ERECTING HIS OWN MONUMENT.

How Lester Bryant, the Boy Champion Corn Grower of Kentucky, Will Buy His Own Memorial With His Record Crop of Corn.

One very frequently hears the remark, "That fellow is erecting his own monument." No one in the Rockfield neighborhood last summer ever thought that Lester Bryant's record crop of corn would be the means of building him a memorial. No one watching a vigorous youngster put his life and soul into the work as he did could have foreseen such an event, and yet if the plans of the Hon. J. W. Newman carry, and they are sure to, the boy will have erected his own memorial.

At the funeral of Lester Bryant a few days after his tragic death at Washington Mr. Newman outlined his plan to a few close friends. The plan was so unique and so easy of handling that it was soon after decided upon.
Mr. Newman has bought Lester Bryant's crop of fine Kentucky tested, Boone County White seed corn from the boy's father and had Dr. Mutchler, the government expert in charge of the Boys' Corn club movement, pick out fifty bushels of extra seed corn.
This carefully selected stock seed corn will be offered for sale as the Lester Bryant Strain of Boone County White.
It will be sold at $1 per ear. All the money realized from the sale of this remarkable corn will be placed in bank at Frankfort to the credit of the Lester Bryant memorial fund. As there will probably be at least 3,500 ears in the fifty bushels of corn, a magnificent monument is sure to rise in the Bowling Green cemetery, where the boy is buried.

Kentucky's Boys' Corn Clubs.
The Boys' Corn club movement is only two years old in this state, and yet the things have been accomplished.
The Corn club boys, several thousand of them, are enthusiastic; but better than enthusiasm are the results that have come from the work.

When the state champions met in Washington this winter with the experts who had charge of the work in the various states, there was naturally a feeling of intense rivalry. Twelve of the southern states that had been pushing the Boys' Corn club idea for several years, had records of 442 boys that had grown over 100 bushels on an acre.
Alabama and Georgia each had over 100 boys with this record to their credit, but both of these states had been organized for club work for the past eight years. It is very gratifying to be able to write that Kentucky, with an organization of only two years, made a splendid record. Fifty-seven boys in Kentucky this past season grew over 100 bushels of corn to the acre. How many adult farmers did that well?

Brave At The "Movie".
We run no risk of a scar
Nor the thrust of any foe

Every day they make it hot Somewhere in Huerta's realm
Any skirmish of that lot Makes another picture film.
Now these Greasers can hit
They can deal the heavy blow
I am not scared the least bit

It is said some sixty five years ago, during the Mexican war, General Cas-sius M. Clay, the sage of White Hall, General William Preston and General John S. Williams, each over six feet tall, and as fine specimens of physical manhood as was ever looked upon, rode into the City of Mexico at the head of their respective commands, the Mexicans came to the conclusion that they were fighting an army of giants. They may have cause to think the same a gain, as the shadows of our men have never grown less.
